WELCOME

Dear Sector Representative:

The 31st European Conference on Surface Science (ECOSS-31) will be held at the CCIB - International Convention Center of Barcelona (www.ccib.es) from August 31st to September 4th, 2015. ECOSS is a well established meeting with a longstanding tradition that started back in 1978 in Amsterdam and is organized jointly by the Surface Science Division of the International Union for Vacuum Science, Technique and Applications (IUVSTA) and the Surface and Interface Section of the European Physical Society (EPS). It provides a comprehensive overview of the state-of-the-art surface physics and chemistry, discusses recent advances and current problems, and points out the prospective development of the field. Experimental as well as theoretical aspects are addressed, covering mainly basic but including also applied research.

On behalf of the Organizing Committee I would like to invite you to participate as a sponsor in this event, where over 800 participants are expected. The exhibit will be set up next to the technical sessions to allow easy access from conference participants.

More information about the meeting can be found at www.ecoss2015.org

We look forward to meeting you in Barcelona.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Jordi Fraxedas
Chairman of ECOSS31

THE CONGRESS CITY

Barcelona was founded over two thousand years ago on the Mediterranean coast in the north-east of the Iberian Peninsula, between two rivers, a short distance from France. Since then, it has been the traditional gateway to Spain through which a number of cultures have entered to enrich the city.

You can follow the traces of this history and diversity as you walk through the city: through the Gothic Quarter, built over the Roman ruins; through the Eixample district with its Catalan art-nouveau, or modernista, buildings, which is a showcase for Gaudí's dazzling architecture, and is laid out on an ordered and rational grid pattern...

This diversity and harmony also blossom in the personality of the enterprising and hard-working people of Barcelona, who have a real love of life, are public-spirited and love culture.

All these traits have made Barcelona a first-class tourist destination, and the ideal place for meetings and congresses. This open, welcoming city shed its skin and opened to the sea to host the 1992 Olympic Games. It completed its seafront with the new Forum zone, which opened in 2004, and is the site of some of Europe's largest hotel and congress facilities. It is located in the heart of an area dedicated to talent and innovation – the technology district 22@ –, located around the new Diagonal area.

In just over two decades, Barcelona has completely transformed its infrastructures and facilities showing a dynamic and pioneering spirit, which is perfectly visible in its new urban and architectural layout.

The city continues to enjoy spring-like climatic conditions, and encourages its visitors to share in its own particularly attractive lifestyle which combines the gentleness of the Mediterranean shores with the drive and capacity for innovation of a young society.

This is a unique combination on the European continent, in a privileged geographical enclave, whose inquiring and dependable population already enjoy this 21st-century Mediterranean metropolis.
